

JACK HAVING TROUBLE GETTING THE RIGHT JILL, ACCORDING TO RECORDS

Some old Wisconsiner in the far distant past made the then sage observation that through a wise and beneficent provision of good old Dame Nature for every Jill placed in this cold, cruel world there was provided a Jack to serve as a sort of meal ticket and general all around handyman, breadwinner, protector or whatever high sounding title you choose to give him. We have no fault to find with that statement and think it might have been true and correct when it was first stated or observed but even so, it appears to us nowadays that what is needed, now is some better way of enforcing this age-old observation or creed.

To be exact and properly put our meaning over what is needed now is some unfailing method of determining just when each particular Jack secures the Jill nature intended for him, or vice versa. The lack of this sixth sense seems to be the cause of a great deal of our troubles, judging from the local divorce court records.

It appears that when some designing Jill succeeds in landing a poor misguided Jack and induces him to believe that he has at least found the other face of the block chopped from the Tree of Life when he was inflicted on a long suffering community, everything goes along like the "grand sweet song" the late Grove told us about, until some fine morning when in looking over the other fellow's possessions we find, or a heart we begin to think—(the thought is not confined to either sex, as the following record will show)—that the other fellow beat us "in the draw and there you are. We try to improve our hand by acquiring the other fellow's discard, too often before I discards, and then the trouble begins.

If you have not been able to follow this far perseuse the following items and it may dawn upon you: W. A. Hagerly, Esq., filed a petition in divorce in the Prothonotary's office Monday in behalf of Mrs. Bert Butterworth, who asks to be divorced from her husband John Butterworth, whom she married July 18, 1914, a who she was compelled to leave August 23, 1916. She alleges that besides taking fits, her husband trespassed her cruelly and barbarously at threatened her life with a butcher knife on divers and sundry times.

Mrs. Rose Acuro through her attorney James A. Gleason, asks for divorce from her husband Samuel Acuro, who deserted her January 1, 1916.

W. I. Swoope Esq., filed the necessary petition for Joseph Peters who wants a divorce from his wife Va Peters. They were married February 24, 1915, and the husband alleges was forced to leave his wife November 25, 1917, because she transferred her affections to one Ed. Davis, an Van Couver, Washington, where they for other cruel and barbarous treatment.

Earl G. Boose, Esq., filed a petition on behalf of Hiram S. Luther, who seeks a divorce from his wife Minnie C. Luther. His petition alleges that they were married December 12, 1919 and that the wife deserted him for one Lester Haney on November 1917, and has since left Clearfield county.

UNFURLED SERVICE FLAG

A service flag containing two four stars was unfurled at a patriotic meeting held in the Eleventh Street M. E. Church Sunday evening. The presentation of the flag was made by Rev. B. J. Hummel, former pastor of the U. B. Church, in a stirring patriotic address.

Following is a list of the names of the young men whose services to the country are commemorated on service flag:

Guy Bowes, Kelley Field, San Antonio, Texas.
Leslie Bowes, Kelley Field, San Antonio, Texas.
Earl Craft, Camp Grant.
Harry Flaherty, Camp Hancock.
Clifford Fulford, Camp Dix.
Russell C. Fulton, Camp Dix.
Bruce Jacobs, Camp Hancock.
Clyde Johnson, Galveston, Texas.
Victor Jones, Camp Green, N.
Worrel Jones, Camp Green, N.
Foster Kerr, Camp Hancock.
Wilber Kerr, Camp Hancock.
Daniel Lauver, Camp Hancock.
Earl Lauver, Camp Hancock.
Rudben Lucas, Camp Hancock.
Wendell Lucas, Fort Bliss, Texas.
Howard Schurig, Camp Lee.
Lyle Sencer, Washington, D.
Barth Williams, Camp Hancock.
Sam. Williams, Blair Station.
Raymond Wilson, Camp Lee.
Hayes M. Wilson, Camp Hancock.
Leonard Wisner, Douglas, Ariz.
Lloyd P. Wisner, Camp Hancock.

DON'T QUIT YOUR JOB TO GO TO THE SHIPYARDS NOW

Secretary of Labor Wilson has issued the following statement:

"The immediate labor needs of the shipyards are comparatively filled and the man who leaves his present position to seek employment in a shipyard is likely to find no work. The coming weeks and months, however, will necessitate the increase of the present number of shipyard workers by several hundred thousand men who have had experience in trades used in shipbuilding. The department of labor, with the aid of the shipping board, Council of National Defense and the state councils of defense, is now enrolling in its United States Public Service Reserve men of these trades who are willing to go to a shipyard when they are advised of a place.

Protect Employers and Workers

"The shipyard volunteers in the public service reserve will be placed through the United States employment service of the department of labor which will have full details as to when and where the men are needed, the wages and housing and other conditions. Membership in the reserve brings official recognition of the performance of or the readiness to perform a most necessary and patriotic service. It also protects both employers and workers, for it minimizes the drain on industry for the supplying of the shipyards and puts the wage earner where he can utilize to the fullest extent his ability and earning power. We appeal to all qualified men to enroll during the coming week in the reserve and to stick to their present jobs until they are called."

NINE ENLISTED MEN WILL LEAVE HERE ON NIGHT TRAIN

The local Exemption Board sent nine enlisted men to join the colors today. Of these nine men the following went to their affections to one Ed. Davis, an Van Couver, Washington, where they for other cruel and barbarous treatment.

Ernest Leroy Gray, West Decatur.
E. R. Anderson, West Decatur.
William Wolfe, Morrisdale.
Howard Dickson, Woodland.
Carl Small, Curwensville.
Alex Harley, Curwensville.
The following go to Fort Leavenworth, Kansas:
Edward Maines, Morrisdale.
Francis T. Carlson, Peale.
The eighth man was E. Paul Richards, of Curwensville, and he enlisted in the Navy.

The men leave tonight on the 7:05 B. R. & P. train.

DEER WITHSTOOD RIGORS OF WINTER

We are informed by John R. Gearhart and Henry Graham who were out on the mountains near the head of Lick and Stone runs Sunday last that all danger of starvation for the deer was ended by the thaw which occurred the past ten days. Both gentlemen report the hills with a southern exposure utterly devoid of snow, which will allow the deer to get down to the grass and roots to graze and dig up food from the ground.

These gentlemen were in different directions and each saw large numbers of deer and report them all appearing to be in fine shape.

WILL EMBARK IN HOTEL BUSINESS

Former County Detective Hugh Jeffrey has closed the deal whereby he becomes the proprietor of the Hotel Windsor at DuBois. The license for this hotel was granted by Judge Bell yesterday to W. M. Baker and today a petition was filed with Prothonotary Moore asking that the license be transferred to Mr. Jeffrey on Monday, March 4th.

NO FUEL RESTRICTIONS HERE

To The Public:

The U. S. Fuel administration has adopted a number of restrictions of the use of fuel in business buildings, restaurants, places of amusement, etc., as well as limiting the hours during which certain of these establishments may remain open, the enforcing of which is left entirely within the discretion of the chairman for the county.

Recognizing the fact that Clearfield is a producing county in which the local coal supply is largely obtained from small mines not engaged in rail shipments, I have decided to enforce none of these restrictions at least for the present.

THE BRITISH FORCES MAKE RAIDS WITH GOOD RESULTS

London, Feb. 19.—Successful raids along a wide front were reported by Field Marshal Haig today. Irish troops entered enemy trenches south-east of Eppehy and northeast of Guillemont bringing back a few prisoners in a raid. In a trench raid over a wide front in the southern portion of Houthoult 27 prisoners were taken together with a machine gun.

U-BOAT GETS ONLY SEVEN PER CENT OF FOOD SHIPMENTS

Washington, Feb. 19.—Launched and maintained with the avowed purpose of starving the Allies, Germany's U-boat campaign has failed miserably.

New figures given to congress by Herbert Hoover showed today a loss of only about 7 per cent. of food shipments during 1917.

Satting at the high water mark last April when 12 per cent. went down the food ship toll has steadily decreased. Hoover, however, declared sharply against railroad failure in this country. This he said would hurt food shipments worse than the enemy.

SENATOR JOHNSON OPENS FIGHT FOR GOV'T. OWNERSHIP

Washington, Feb. 19.—Opening the fight to retain railroad ownership by the government after the war, Senator Johnson, of California, today declared in a speech that "the nation is marching straight to the goal of public ownership—the people at last will come into their own." He vigorously assailed the compensation provided for the railroads in the railroad control bill, saying that "because of the crisis it is indefensible." To the plea that politics would play an important and injurious part in the management of railroads Johnson replied "I would risk any kind of politics under government ownership rather than the politics I have seen under private ownership."

THREE JERSEY MEN KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Wayne, N. J., Feb. 19.—Three men were slightly burned today in an explosion which destroyed four buildings of the Wayne Powder works here. The extent of the damage is not yet known. Windows in buildings in the towns nearby were broken by the terrific force of the explosion.

HOW PARIS RECEIVED FIRST AMERICANS BACK FROM 'TRENCHES

This photograph shows how the people of Paris, particularly the women, met the first American troops to arrive in Paris on leave after their bit in the trenches. The girls turned out and with their hands and faces full of tears, they were proud to march with them through the streets.

SALVATION ARMY WOMEN DOING TRENCH WORK

Cable Tells Of Brave Lassies Carrying Coffee And Cocoa Into Front Line Trenches

NOT AFRAID OF THE SHELLS

Salvation Army women accepted for day and night duty in front line trenches are equipped like soldiers for trench service.

New York, Feb. 19.—In a few hours four of us women start for front line trenches. Three of our officers started trench work yesterday. Mrs. Adjutant Hammond Miss Captain McIntyre. Mrs. Ensign Hickey and I are first American women accepted for trench service both day and night. We are fully equipped with gas masks, steel helmets, rubber blankets and revolvers.

Helen Purviance, Ensign.

These American girls, stimulated by patriotism and religious fervor, are suffering the hardships and dangers of trained troops in their effort to serve the cause of freedom. They circulate through the front line trenches both day and night, distributing buckets of hot coffee and chocolate to the boys. As a result of the Sock and Garment Exchange system, our soldiers are able to exchange their mud-soaked, sodden clothing for clean, dry woolen garments. While some of the Salvation Army lassies on foreign duty are subject to the dangers of the battle front, others are laboring in the rear. No task is too menial. Washing and mending socks and clothing and standing for hours over an improvised stove to cook for throngs of soldiers has become a daily routine. One Salvation Army girl walked fourteen miles along a French road at night on an errand of mercy to a wounded soldier. On her journey she was met by an American Colonel who inquired into the reason for her being out alone. He immediately provided her with a horse. This led to an order whereby all Salvation Army officers may requisition horses for similar purpose.

The heroism of The Russian Death Legion sinks into insignificance when compared with the patriotic fervor of our American girls on the other side who have given up the safety of homes many thousands of miles from the battle front in order to accompany and serve our boys in France.

If Jack Dempsey, the California heavyweight is as good as many fictitious experts claim him to be, he has arrived at the psychological moment. For a big fellow who can really fight the game was never so soft as at the present time.

BOLSHEVIKI WILL NOT YIELD TO GERMANS

READY TO TREAT WITH GERMAN PEOPLE BUT WILL NOT SUPPLY FOODSTUFFS TO MILITARY LEADERS

DEMANDING AN HONORABLE PEACE

Editor's Note: The following cable from Joseph Shaplen is of great interest at this time. Mr. Shaplen, a Russian by birth, came to New York only a few years ago and engaged in newspaper work. Recognizing his ability the United Press Association quickly picked him up and gave him a complete schooling in the handling of international news. In December Mr. Shaplen was despatched to Petrograd and after much adventure and many narrow escapes he landed in the city of revolts and unrest, from where he is now sending daily cables to this country. Any cable appearing under the Petrograd date line and bearing his signature can be relied upon as being authentic.

Petrograd, Feb. 19.—Russia will fight. The Bolsheviks will fight, according to a statement to the United Press today. If the Germans advance against Russia they will be charged as counter-revolutionists and fought like Alexander and Kaledine, it was asserted. The response to the recruiting of a Socialist party is encouraging.

Germany will get food only when they revolutionize and join the Russian proletariat.

Foreign Secretary Trotsky addressed the Bolshevik executive committee and outlined publicly for the first time that the peace terms received from Germany had been refused. They indicated the retention of Poland, Lithuania, Riga and the Moon Islands and called for four billions of dollars for indemnities.

London, Feb. 19.—The German advance against the Rur was under way today, according to the Berlin war office. The Rhine River has been crossed despite opposition, the German official statement said. "Called to help the Ukrainians we are advancing from the direction of Kovet," the statement asserted.

By Carl D. Groot

Washington, Feb. 19.—German military leaders hope to lure the German people with "victory" against defeated Russia.

That was the way military men today sized up the German-Russian situation and despite the fact that Austria opposes warring on Russia the Teutonic armies are now striking anew at Russia.

The German leaders, according to thought here, hope to gain desired territory from Russia and shut her off from the Balkans and then try to still the murmurs at home by presenting this new victory. The utter disorganization of the Russian army can give the Germans little immediate resistance, military men say. While Russia's sole thought has been peace it is believed that the Teutonic course will fan the military spirit anew.

Russia still has considerable of her men under arms, but her lines of communication are poor and her supplies are low. The morale is shattered so in all Germany is going up against one of the easiest and most unique military ventures that apparently any army has ever had. The German drive will be used in American propaganda to emphasize the German annexationist policy and to emphasize the Teutonic powers defense of Ukraina.

THIRTY-FIVE SUDDENLY TAKEN ILL AT NORFOLK

Washington, Feb. 19.—Thirty-five men at the Norfolk Va. naval station became suddenly ill yesterday today. (Dvinsk is located on the after eating corn beef hash said a telephone message today from Captain Dayton in command to Secretary of Navy Daniels. The cause was not known but it was not a case of ptomaine poisoning or ground glass Dayton said. Most of the men he believed would be on duty today but he said he was checking up and would report later.

GERMANS TAKE DVINSK

Berlin via London, Feb. 19.—German resistance the war office announced today. (Dvinsk is located on the Dvina river about 100 miles southeast of Riga). The Russians made an unsuccessful attempt to blow up a bridge over the Dvina river, the German war office statement added.

HAS PURCHASED ST. CHARLES HOTEL

Earl McHenry, the efficient Chief of Police of Clearfield for the past eight years, has purchased the good will and fixtures of the St. Charles Hotel from Charles Callahan and expects to take possession of same when the license is transferred on Monday, March 4th.

TUESDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 19, 1918.

Slips tries over.

Will H. Hays made his first move as National Chairman of the Republican Party today in a letter inviting all former Republican national chairmen to meet him at the Union League of New York next Monday night where they will confer.

The fuel administrator for the state of New York warns his constituents that "every indication points to the fact that the coal stringency will be even more acute next winter than it is at present." The gentleman from New York evidently has advance information from Washington that Mr. Garfield is to be retained for another year.

The DuBois Daily Express which has relied upon International News Services for several years yesterday took on the good old reliable United Press. It was noticeable that in their issue of yesterday the United Press dispatches were given top of column and set in black type. The people of DuBois are now assured of state world news.

The Democratic organs are making more of a fuss over the probable Republican candidates for Congress and Governor than the rank and file of Republicans themselves. Republicans, the whole country over, are silently determined to have a change in administration from top to bottom and their choice at the primaries will be their unanimous choice at the general election.

Judging from the way some people howl when they put in a grocery order and are compelled to buy substitutes for white flour, they are not aware of the fact that we are at war. They forget that we have over half a million of our finest young men "over there" who are depending upon us for flour. People who take up the grocer's time howling over this, the lightest sacrifice they can make, are indeed not true patriots and it is unfortunate the grocer is not in position to tell them what he really thinks of them.

THE BIG THING

We had a war of independence; a little democracy came into being and stood for itself. The Big Thing was in embryo.

We had a war of Liberty; our growing democracy stood for a great human and national ideal, and forces were aligned for the Big Thing to come.

We had a war of righteous interference; our great democracy stood for the co-operation of neighboring nations; and the Big Thing loomed near.

The Big Thing Has Come! We have a war to the death of right against wrong. Our mighty nation, equipped with power and influence, proudly self-conscious, unified by danger, has championed the principles of world-brotherhood, democracy and justice. America has grown her chance! She stands now not upon her own rights; not upon the rights of a class or condition of men; not upon the right of neighbors or friends—but upon the rights of the whole free world! Hers is the first national voice raised for the broadest inter-nationalism.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

We are authorized to announce the name of E. J. Jones of Bradford, McKean county, as a candidate for Representative in Congress from the twenty-first district composed of the counties of Clearfield, Centre, Cameron and McKean, subject to the rules governing the Republican party, Primary May 21, 1918.

STATE SENATE
We are authorized to announce the name of S. J. Miller of Butler township, Clearfield county, as a candidate for the office of State senator from the 21st Senatorial district of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules governing the Republican party.

SHOULD TAKE UP CHURCH WORK IN THE ARMY CAMPS

The National War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A. wishes the names of all men called to the National Army who have been active in church or association. Cards are being given those who would for them at the local associations introducing them to the Y. M. C. A. secretaries at Camp Lee. Friends of boys who are anxious to have them enlist in Christian activities should notify Mr. Corbett of the local association and have cards of introduction given them.

All men called to the National Army are invited to use the privileges of the association at their convenience.

The Pennsylvania State Convention of the Y. M. C. A. convenes at Harrisburg on the 21st-23rd. This meeting will make a special feature of recruiting for work in the home base of the association, so that the ground gained by the growth of the past ten years may not be lost. Among the speakers will be Dr. W. W. White, President of Bible Teacher's Training College, N. Y.; Bishop Luther B. Wilson, New York; Geo. A. Warburton, General Secretary of the Toronto Association.

RULES FOR INCUBATION

With the increased demand for baby chicks this season it will be necessary to hatch early and late, says L. S. Kleinschmidt of the Pennsylvania State College. Many new incubators will be put in operation and many old ones brought out and cleaned up.

Clean the incubator and disinfect thoroughly before starting each hatch. Run the incubator twenty-four hours so as to be sure that it is properly regulated.

Place the egg on its side, not on end.

Run the thermometer at 102 degrees F. at the top of the eggs but do not allow the bulb to touch the eggs. Run the swinging thermometers at 103 degrees F.

Turn the eggs twice a day from the third to eighteenth day.

Remove all clear and dead eggs after the seventh day and again on the fourteenth day.

Do not hold eggs longer than two weeks before incubating them.

Air the eggs five minutes during the second week and ten minutes during the third week, but do not chill them. Test by touching the large end of the egg to the egg if it feels cool the eggs are ready to be returned to the incubator.

Test the temperature of a nursery tray. If it is below ninety-five degrees F. do not let the chicks into it. Young chicks should have an early temperature of about ninety-eight degrees F.

Harden the chicks off in the incubator by gradually increasing the air allowed to enter through the door.

More than 100,000 women and girls are now employed by the Prussian State railways, as compared with fewer than 10,000 before the commencement of the war.

MUSTEROLE—QUICK RELIEF! NO BLISTER!

It Soothes and Relieves Like a Mustard Plaster Without the Burn or Sting

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with the oil of mustard. It does all the work of the old-fashioned mustard plaster—does it better and does not blister. You do not have to bother with a cloth. You simply rub it on—and usually the pain is gone!

Many doctors and nurses use Musterole and recommend it to their patients. They will gladly tell you what relief it gives from sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bites, colds of the chest, etc. often prevents pneumonia.

THE ALCOHOL AGE.

"What is the matter with the world?" asked Dr. Charles Gilbert Davis, noted surgeon of Chicago, in a thought-arresting article in the Illinois Issue. His answer is, "A thousand years of alcoholic saturation."

"All life should evolve," he says; "alcohol produces evolution. Take the largest and finest breed of dogs—the Great Dane, for example—and for three or four generations feed them daily a little alcohol and what is the result? What was previously a large, noble animal will deteriorate into a snarling, snarling, fighting, almost hairless, insignificant little cur. And yet we feed men on this lethal poison for thousands of years and then wonder why we have disease, pestilence, insanity and war."

"In this dawn of the twentieth century it may be truthfully affirmed that the aggressive war brain is the brain that directly, or indirectly through heredity, has been poisoned by alcohol. The alcoholic brain cannot evolve those emotions of the human soul that make for peace. We may talk peace, legislate for peace, and make peace treaties, but wars will never cease till the brain is freed from the corroding effects of alcohol."

"One thousand years from now the historian will record the events of today and classify them under the general heading, 'The Age of Alcohol.' It will be pathetic but interesting literature."

BREAD OR BEER.

Sir Alfred Booth, chairman of the Cunard steamship line, was, when the war began, neither a prohibitionist nor a total abstainer. Early in 1916 he started Great Britain by declaring that "the transport problem demands prohibition until the war is over." "I am not thinking of the temperance side of the question," he said, "we have got beyond that now. I am thinking of the demand which the trade makes upon the services of our ships, our railways and cars, and our labor." He denounced the use by the breweries and distilleries of thousands of tons of coal mined and sent to them every week, the barley and other produce carted and hauled by rail to the brewery, brought back again and distributed to the consumer. "If we are to maintain our armies in the field, we shall before very long have to choose between bread or beer."

MOTHERING THE SOLDIERS.

The W. C. T. U. has opened many recreation rooms for the soldiers. The homelike men who flock to them do not fail to express their gratitude for the cheery welcome and the homely atmosphere they find in these places. To the matron at the rooms in Washington, D. C., a poem was presented by young Robert E. Lee, grandson of the great Southern general, as an expression of his feelings. The last stanza runs thus:

When side by side we take our chance,
To live or die in bloody France,
For right and you;
Then never fear, you here at home
That we'll forget, wherever we roam
The W. C. T. U.

THE WORKINGMAN'S BURDEN.

Every workingman carries on his back a nonproducer. The laborer who pays his bills is charged a higher price to cover the loss the storekeeper sustains by failure of the drinking man to pay what he owes. When crime is committed or a family impoverished by the drink-debauchery of its natural support, the cost appears on the tax bill of the man who labors.

Jobs are made by the consumption of products, and if money is not spent for booze, it will be spent for other things which must be produced by labor.—From the Cyclopaedia of Temperance.

ALCOHOL INCREASES FATIGUE.

Fatigue is due to the action upon nerve endings and nerve cells of poisonous products formed within the body as the result of muscular metabolism. For a fatigued person to add to his blood, unless in minute doses, another poison in the form of alcohol, is only to make matters worse rather than better. What are required are longer periods of rest.—Sir Thomas Oliver, M. D., LL. D., in "The Drink Problem of Today."

BUYS NEW CLOTHES.

In Denver soon after prohibition went into effect a woman exhibited with great pride the first dress her husband had ever purchased for her, although they had been married long enough to have a child in the eighth grade. She added that he had a new suit, too.

TO SYMBOLIZE A CLEAN LIFE.

Four thousand men in the First Reserve Officers Training camp at Fort Sheridan, Ill., signed this pledge:

"1. We undertake to maintain our part of the war free from hatred, wanton brutality or graft, true to the American purpose and ideals.

"2. Aware of the temptations incident to camp life and the moral and social wrongs involved, we covenant together to live the clean life and to seek to uplift the American soldier as a citizen and guardian of our nation."

Miss Evelyn Smith returned to Indiana Normal school today after spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Carr.

LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS

LETTER FROM MILTON THOMAS

Somewhere in France,
Jan. 18, 1918.

Dear Mother And All:

Just a line to let you know that I received your letter of December 18 and was glad to hear from you. It found me well and enjoying fine health. Our winter is almost over. The snow is almost all gone. It has rained for the last week.

Well mother I have not received the sweater yet but don't worry. You will have to give it time as we have awful slow transportation. It takes the mail a month or more but I will write just as soon as I get it.

Well I have it pretty nice. One of my friends and I have a private room. We have a nice feather bed so you see it is almost like home. We are getting all the tobacco we need. I have a pretty good stock.

Well as I can't think of any more to tell you I will close for this time.

Your loving son,
MILTON.

Somewhere in France,
Jan. 18, 1918.

Dear Parents:

I received your kind and welcome letter and was glad to hear of your good health. Thank God I am the same. I also received a photo of Joe and I think he looks fine. If you see him tell him to write me a letter. Of course I don't expect to meet him over here in France unless it's accidentally.

Well it was pretty cold here the last month but the weather here is very changeable. We haven't very many winter months left so we are hoping for good weather before long.

I signed up for a $10,000 policy and I pay 38 francs a month, which is about $6.00 in American money. In case of death it entitles you to $52.50 a month and if I am disabled it pays the same in 240 payments, so I think it's pretty good to carry a policy. In case anything happens I am not obligated to anyone.

Well I am a little tired just now or I would write more. Hoping to receive an answer by return mail, as I am very happy when I receive a letter from home, I remain

OBITUARY

LITTLE GIRL DIES

Ellen, the four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Flannigan, died at the home of her parents in Hillside at noon yesterday. The little one had been a sufferer from pneumonia for the past ten days. She was a bright, lovable child and her heartbroken parents have the sympathy of all in their sad bereavement.

MISS MAUDE BLOOM DIES

Miss Maude Bloom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gainer Bloom, died at the home of her parents on Spruce street at noon Monday aged 18 years. She is survived by her parents, three sisters and six brothers.

"BETTER EVERY WAY," HE SAYS

Smelter in Mint Was too Busy Making Silver Dollars to Guard Health

"I guess I was too busy making silver dollars for Uncle Sam to watch my health," said H. B. Thomas, of 2244 Nicholas street, Philadelphia, a smelter in the United States mint recently.

"I have been an athlete for a good many years, playing football, baseball and basketball," he continued, "and I thought I was as immune as a fellow could get from a breakdown."

"I didn't think much about my health. As a result, I became nervous and all run-down."

"I grew tired at the least exertion and I realized I had lost some of my strength and buoyancy. I lacked ambition, and kind of pulled myself thru the day."

"I knew I needed a good tonic and builder, so when a friend told me about the way this Taniae helped him, I decided to try it myself. I began using Taniae and am now taking it."

"I feel better in every way. I sleep well and feel rested and ready for work in the morning. I eat well and my food seems to thoroughly agree with me. That tired kind of a feeling has disappeared, and I feel as good as new."

Taniae, the Master Medicine, is now sold here by Woodward & M'Pherson.

PILLOW ROLL IS NEW IDEA

Covering Need Cost Very Little, as Most Material Can Be Found in Family Piece Bag.

Some call them slumber rolls, but no matter what their name, they are about the most modern word in the pillow world.

The pillow roll is particularly interesting because the covering need cost very little. Cover the ends with either velvet or silk; this may be the most expensive part of the covering, but as two straight pieces the length of the circumference of the pillow are required, it is almost a foregone conclusion that enough suitable material will be found in the family piece bag, says a writer in an exchange.

From the center of the uncovered pillow end measure back the width of the end covering. Sew the black edge fast to the pillow, after having stitched up the seam to fit. Gather the other edge into the pillow end's center and hide by a bit of gimp and a tassel.

The middle of the roll is covered by a coarse cream-colored linen; the center is ornamented by stenciled circles, done with dye to match the colored ends; in each circle yellow and white daisies are embroidered, using the petal stitch; stamping is not necessary.

A cross stitch or filled-in border in a conventional pattern is run midway between this and the edge.
 Seam up the linen to fit the circumference, slip it on and tack it in place. Finish the edge which joins the end covers with gimp, and a very attractive pillow is the result.
 To make the roll itself, turn over and over an oblong toss pillow, sewing it firmly in shape.

MANY NOVELTIES FROM CHINA

Bits of Embroidery and Brocade
 Silk Imported from the Orient
 Enliven American Costumes.

We are much indebted, just at present, to the Chinese for inspiration in our interior decorating. We have many times acknowledged that fact.

But now we are also indebted to the Chinese for many charming things about our clothes, says a fashion writer. This is partly because the French designers have looked to that part of the Orient for inspiration. It is partly, too, because it seems to be easier now to make imports from China and Japan than from Europe. Hence our shops are filled with lovely bits of Chinese embroidery and brocade silk—and we must, perforce, make them wearable.

One novelty is the stock collar of rich Chinese embroidery, with a full jabot below it in front of lace or fine muslin, lace trimmed. These jabots are often made to give a sort of one-sided effect—that is, they are much fuller on one side than on the other. There are often little cuffs, quite snug, fastening with snappers, to wear with these collars.

Another novelty is made of Chinese silk, embroidered with metallic threads. This consists of three-piece sets, consisting of neck scarf, handbag and cap, all lined with brilliant color, with worsted fringe on the scarfs.

THE FALLING CROWN.

SEPARATE SKIRT STILL WIDE
 Plaited Model is Perennial Favorite, Regardless of the Season or the Fabric Employed.

Style designers may wrinkle their brows to decide whether narrow or wide skirts as a part of suits and one-piece dresses shall hold sway; but separate skirt designers go happily along defying rules that apply to other types of outer apparel, and make plaited skirts that are comfortably wide, regardless of season or of fabric employed. True, plain skirts, bustle skirts, spiral and tunic skirts are shown; but the plaited model is a perennial favorite, while all other skirt types enjoy a fluctuating popularity.

Yokes are being developed on many small skirts of the season, and where either a plaid or a striped fabric is used this is an admirable plan. The fabric may be cut lengthwise for the skirt proper and crosswise for the yoke if to a striped weave; or if plaid material is employed the yoke may be cut on the bias and a very smart skirt sans other trimming be the finished result.

HEALTH THAT MAKES WEALTH

Nervous Energy Which Enables One to Think New Thoughts and Initiate New Plans Important.

Probably the majority of men do not know what real health means. It means more than the capacity to sit up and eat, to walk, to board a car and to bend over a desk. Real health means more than the real ability to do the same thing day after day. Real health means a degree of stirring, nervous energy that enables one to think new thoughts, conceive new plans and initiate new enterprises. Superabundant nervous energy is back of exceptional mental activity. It is the basis of all those qualities which are most essential in the struggle for success.

It is not sufficient to have health that will enable you to do a commonplace day's work. Hugo Masters writes in Physical Culture. The right kind of health should give you the energy with which to perform far more than a day's work. If necessary, even from a quantitative standpoint. It is commonly the man with an unlimited capacity for work who gets on. He is able to work long hours without tiring. Successful men invariably enjoy the possession of this degree of nervous endurance or working endurance.

But it is not this that is most important. The possession of energy is essential, not so much for the sake of the capacity for long hours of work, but on account of the quality of work which it enables one to perform. Quality of effort is more important than quantity of work and the greatest value of unlimited energy lies in giving one the capacity for concentration, the capacity for an intensity of effort that is beyond the average man.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MOUNTAIN GOATS.

Mr. and Mrs. White Mountain Goat were having a talk as to what they should have for dinner.

"I suggest a good deal of clover," said Mr. Goat.

"And I would like some hay," said Mrs. Goat.

"Why shouldn't we have both?" asked Mr. Goat.

"Why not, indeed?" asked Mrs. Goat, looking at her husband proudly.

"No one could say that goats are stupid if they ever saw you, my dear," she said.

"Thank you, my love," said Mr. Goat. "Kind words are pleasant to hear and we have both made each other happy by them, but just now it is meal-time and I am very hungry. In fact I will be far more pleasant after I eat. I am beginning to feel a little cross now."

"As long as you admit it," said Mrs. Goat, "it is not so bad. The only creatures I cannot stand are the ones who don't admit when they feel cross. They act in such a horrid way and yet they pretend they are not disagreeable in the least."

"I am getting more cross by the moment," said Mr. Goat. "We really must hurry."

Now Mr. Goat was really feeling rather cross. He always did when he grew very hungry. To be sure he admitted it, because he thought it was the best way. He did not want Mrs. Goat to think that he would naturally be cross to her.

He felt rather ashamed that he always grew so cross when he was hungry and he tried hard to hide the way he felt, but it was very, very difficult.

So off Mr. and Mrs. White Mountain Goat went for their meal of clover and hay. They found some splendid clover and the hay was good too.

"I am feeling better now," said Mr. White Mountain Goat, as he munched the clover and smiled.

"I know you are," laughed Mrs. Goat.

"I always feel so cross when I am hungry," said Mr. Goat.

"To be sure you do," said Mrs. Goat, "but oh, how extremely pleasant you are after a meal."

It was quite true for Mr. Goat began to smile and laugh and chat in the happiest manner. He told jokes and he said how wonderful the world was. He also told Mrs. Goat how much he loved her.

They went for a long walk after this meal—a very long walk, along the top of the mountain. They climbed and climbed and no matter how high the ridges were, they managed to get over them.

"How I would hate to live on the level earth," said Mr. White Mountain Goat.

"So would I," said Mrs. Goat.

"I have heard," said Mr. White Mountain Goat, rubbing his handsome beard or goatie against his shoulder, but he had forgotten to finish his sentence for he was looking far over some mountain tops at another valley with clover.

"What have you heard?" asked Mrs. Goat.

"Oh," said Mr. Goat, as he began to remember that he had been talking. "Oh, to be sure," he continued, "I have heard that some of our cousins who have gone to live where it is level and where there are no real mountains, will climb right over the little houses they are given to sleep in."

"I am not in the least surprised," said Mrs. Goat. "If I saw a little house I would climb right over it. What would a house be to me? Absolutely nothing. For I am used to the mountains, the great ridges and the peaks."

They walked and climbed many miles and after a long, long time they rested. After they had had a nap they began to feel the effects of the long climb, for both Mr. and Mrs. Goat again felt hungry.

"Mercy me," said Mr. Goat, "I am feeling cross again. That is only another word for hungry with me."

"I know your ways, dear goat," said Mrs. Goat, "and we will start off to the next valley right away."

Mr. White Mountain Goat was certainly feeling very cross, but soon they had reached the valley and they were eating again.

"Even if you are cross for a little while before meal-time," said Mrs. White Mountain Goat, "you are a love of a goat after meals. The time when you are cross and hungry never lasts very long, so I can forgive you, Mr. Goat."

The faces of the International League will be decided once and for all when the club owners meet in New York the latter part of next month.

NEW SHOES WON'T HURT AFTER THIS

Cincinnati man tells how to shiver up corns so they lift out

Once I I I I I This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called freemason when applied to a tender skin corn stone worn at once and soon the corn dries up and lifts right out without pain.

He says freemason is a sticky substance which dries immediately and never irritates or even irritates the surrounding tissue at very little as any drug stone, is said to be sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Millions of Americans will welcome this new discovery which makes the eradication of the corns easy.

JACK HAVING TROUBLE GETTING THE RIGHT JILL, ACCORDING TO RECORDS

Some old Wisconsin in the far distant past made the then sage observation that through a wise and beneficent provision of good old Dame Nature for every Jill placed in this cold, cruel world there was provided a Jack to serve as a sort of meal ticket and general all around handy man, breadwinner, protector or whatever high sounding title you choose to give him. We have no fault to find with that statement and think it might have been true and correct when it was first stated or observed but even so, it appears to us nowadays that what is needed, now is some better way of enforcing this age-old observation or creed.

To be exact and properly put our meaning over what is needed now is some unfailing method of determining just when each particular Jack secures the Jill nature intended for him, or vice versa. The lack of this sixth sense seems to be the cause of a great deal of our troubles, judging from the local divorce court records.

It appears that when some designing Jill succeeds in landing a poor misguided Jack and induces him to believe that he has at least found the other face of the block chopped from the Tree of Life when he was inflicted on a long suffering community, everything goes along like the "grand sweet song" the late Grove told us about, until some fine morning when in looking over the other fellow's possessions we find, or a heart we begin to think—(the thought is not confined to either sex, as the following record will show)—that the other fellow beat us "in the draw and there you are. We try to improve our hand by acquiring the other fellow's discard, too often before I discards, and then the trouble begins.

If you have not been able to follow this far peruse the following items and it may dawn upon you: W. A. Hagerly, Esq., filed a petition in divorce in the Prothonotary's office Monday in behalf of Mrs. Bert Butterworth, who asks to be divorced from her husband John Butterworth, whom she married July 18, 1914, a who she was compelled to leave August 23, 1916. She alleges that besides taking fits, her husband trespassed her cruelly and barbarously at threatened her life with a butcher knife on divers and sundry times.

Mrs. Rose Acuro through her attorney James A. Gleason, asks for divorce from her husband Samuel Acuro, who deserted her January 1916.

W. I. Swoope Esq., filed the necessary petition for Joseph Peters who wants a divorce from his wife Va Peters. They were married February 24, 1915, and the husband alleges was forced to leave his wife November 25, 1917, because she transferred her affections to one Ed. Davis, an Van Couver, Washington, where they for other cruel and barbarous treatment.

Earl G. Boose, Esq., filed a petition on behalf of Hiram S. Luther, who seeks a divorce from his wife Minnie C. Luther. His petition alleges that they were married December 12, 1919 and that the wife deserted him for one Lester Haney on November 1917, and has since left Clearfield county.

UNFURLED SERVICE FLAG

A service flag containing two four stars was unfurled at a patriotic meeting held in the Eleventh Street M. E. Church Sunday evening. The presentation of the flag was made by Rev. B. J. Hummel, former pastor of the U. B. Church, in a stirring patriotic address.

Following is a list of the names of the young men whose services to the country are commemorated on service flag:

Guy Bowes, Kelley Field, San Antonio, Texas.
Leslie Bowes, Kelley Field, San Antonio, Texas.

DON'T QUIT YOUR JOB TO GO TO THE SHIPYARDS NOW

Secretary of Labor Wilson has issued the following statement:

"The immediate labor needs of the shipyards are comparatively filled and the man who leaves his present position to seek employment in a shipyard is likely to find no work. The coming weeks and months, however, will necessitate the increase of the present number of shipyard workers by several hundred thousand men who have had experience in trades used in shipbuilding. The department of labor, with the aid of the shipping board, Council of National Defense and the state councils of defense, is now enrolling in its United States Public Service Reserve men of these trades who are willing to go to a shipyard when they are advised of a place.

Protect Employers and Workers

"The shipyard volunteers in the public service reserve will be placed through the United States employment service of the department of labor which will have full details as to when and where the men are needed, the wages and housing and other conditions. Membership in the reserve brings official recognition of the performance of or the readiness to perform a most necessary and patriotic service. It also protects both employers and workers, for it minimizes the drain on industry for the supplying of the shipyards and puts the wage earner where he can utilize to the fullest extent his ability and earning power. We appeal to all qualified men to enroll during the coming week in the reserve and to stick to their present jobs until they are called."

NINE ENLISTED MEN WILL LEAVE HERE ON NIGHT TRAIN

The local Exemption Board sent nine men to join the colors today. Of these nine men the following went to their affections to one Ed. Davis, an Van Couver, Washington, where they for other cruel and barbarous treatment.

Francis T. Carlson, Peale.
The eighth man was E. Paul Richards, of Curwensville, and he enlisted in the Navy.

The men leave tonight on the 7:05 B. R. & P. train.

DEER WITHSTOOD RIGORS OF WINTER

We are informed by John R. Gearhart and Henry Graham who were out on the mountains near the head of Lick and Stone runs Sunday last that all danger of starvation for the deer was ended by the thaw which occurred the past ten days. Both gentlemen report the hills with a southern exposure utterly devoid of snow, which will allow the deer to get down to the grass and roots to graze and dig up food from the ground.

These gentlemen were in different directions and each saw large numbers of deer and report them all appearing to be in fine shape.

WILL EMBARK IN HOTEL BUSINESS

Former County Detective Hugh Jeffrey has closed the deal whereby he becomes the proprietor of the Hotel Windsor at DuBois. The license for this hotel was granted by Judge Bell yesterday to W. M. Baker and today a petition was filed with Prothonotary Moore asking that the license be transferred to Mr. Jeffrey on Monday, March 4th.

NO FUEL RESTRICTIONS HERE

The U. S. Fuel administration has adopted a number of restrictions of the use of fuel in business buildings, restaurants, places of amusement, etc., as well as limiting the hours during which certain of these establishments may remain open, the enforcing of which is left entirely within the discretion of the chairman for the county.

Recognizing the fact that Clearfield is a producing county in which the local coal supply is largely obtained from small mines not engaged in rail shipments, I have decided to enforce none of these restrictions at least for the present.

THE BRITISH FORCES MAKE RAIDS WITH GOOD RESULTS

London, Feb. 19.—Successful raids along a wide front were reported by Field Marshal Haig today. Irish troops entered enemy trenches south-east of Eppehy and northeast of Guillemont bringing back a few prisoners in a raid. In a trench raid over a wide front in the southern portion of Houthoult 27 prisoners were taken together with a machine gun.

U-BOAT GETS ONLY SEVEN PER CENT OF FOOD SHIPMENTS

Washington, Feb. 19.—Launched and maintained with the avowed purpose of starving the Allies, Germany's U-boat campaign has failed miserably.

New figures given to congress by Herbert Hoover showed today a loss of only about 7 per cent. of food shipments during 1917.

Satting at the high water mark last April when 12 per cent. went down the food ship toll has steadily decreased. Hoover, however, declared sharply against railroad failure in this country. This he said would hurt food shipments worse than the enemy.

SENATOR JOHNSON OPENS FIGHT FOR GOV'T. OWNERSHIP

Washington, Feb. 19.—Opening the fight to retain railroad ownership by the government after the war, Senator Johnson, of California, today declared in a speech that "the nation is marching straight to the goal of public ownership—the people at last will come into their own." He vigorously assailed the compensation provided for the railroads in the railroad control bill, saying that "because of the crisis it is indefensible." To the plea that politics would play an important and injurious part in the management of railroads Johnson replied "I would risk any kind of politics under government ownership rather than the politics I have seen under private ownership."

THREE JERSEY MEN KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Wayne, N. J., Feb. 19.—Three men were slightly burned today in an explosion which destroyed four buildings of the Wayne Powder works here. The extent of the damage is not yet known. Windows in buildings in the towns nearby were broken by the terrific force of the explosion.

HOW PARIS RECEIVED FIRST AMERICANS BACK FROM 'TRENCHES

This photograph shows how the people of Paris, particularly the women, met the first American troops to arrive in Paris on leave after their bit in the trenches. The girls turned out and with their hands on their hips, they were proud to march with them through the streets.

SALVATION ARMY WOMEN DOING TRENCH WORK

Cable Tells Of Brave Lassies Carrying Coffee And Cocoa Into Front Line Trenches

NOT AFRAID OF THE SHELLS

Salvation Army women accepted for day and night duty in front line trenches are equipped like soldiers for trench service.

New York, Feb. 19.—In a few hours four of us women start for front line trenches. Three of our officers started trench work yesterday. Mrs. Adjutant Hammond Miss Captain McIntyre. Mrs. Ensign Hickey and I are first American women accepted for trench service both day and night. We are fully equipped with gas masks, steel helmets, rubber blankets and revolvers.

Helen Purviance, Ensign.

These American girls, stimulated by patriotism and religious fervor, are suffering the hardships and dangers of trained troops in their effort to serve the cause of freedom. They circulate through the front line trenches both day and night, distributing buckets of hot coffee and chocolate to the boys. As a result of the Sock and Garter Exchange system, our soldiers are able to exchange their mud-soaked, sodden clothing for clean, dry woolen garments. While some of the Salvation Army lassies on foreign duty are subject to the dangers of the battle front, others are laboring in the rear. No task is too menial. Washing and mending socks and clothing and standing for hours over an improvised stove to cook for throngs of soldiers has become a daily routine. One Salvation Army girl walked fourteen miles along a French road at night on an errand of mercy to a wounded soldier. On her journey she was met by an American Colonel who inquired into the reason for her being out alone. He immediately provided her with a horse. This led to an order whereby all Salvation Army officers may requisition horses for similar purpose.

The heroism of the Russian Death Legion sinks into insignificance when compared with the patriotic fervor of our American girls on the other side who have given up the safety of homes many thousands of miles from the battle front in order to accompany and serve our boys in France.

If Jack Dempsey, the California heavyweight is as good as many fictitious experts claim him to be, he has arrived at the psychological moment. For a big fellow who can really fight the game was never so soft as at the present time.

BOLSHEVIKI WILL NOT YIELD TO GERMANS

DEMANDING AN HONORABLE PEACE

Editor's Note: The following cable from Joseph Shaplen is of great interest at this time. Mr. Shaplen, a Russian by birth, came to New York only a few years ago and engaged in newspaper work. Recognizing his ability the United Press Association quickly picked him up and gave him a complete schooling in the handling of international news. In December Mr. Shaplen was despatched to Petrograd and after much adventure and many narrow escapes he landed in the city of revolts and unrest, from where he is now sending daily cables to this country. Any cable appearing under the Petrograd date line and bearing his signature can be relied upon as being authentic.

Petrograd, Feb. 19.—Russia will fight. The Bolsheviks will fight, according to a statement to the United Press today. If the Germans advance against Russia they will be charged as counter-revolutionists and fought like Alexander and Kaledine, it was asserted. The response to the recruiting of a Socialist party is encouraging.

Germany will get food only when they revolutionize and join the Russian proletariat.

Foreign Secretary Trotsky addressed the Bolshevik executive committee and outlined publicly for the first time that the peace terms received from Germany had been refused. They indicated the retention of Poland, Lithuania, Riga and the Moon Islands and called for four billions of dollars for indemnities.

London, Feb. 19.—The German advance against the Rumanian was under way today, according to the Berlin war office. The Drina River has been crossed despite opposition, the German official statement said. "Called to help the Ukrainians we are advancing from the direction of Kovel," the statement asserted.

By Carl D. Groot

Washington, Feb. 19.—German military leaders hope to lure the German people with "victory" against defeated Russia.

That was the way military men today sized up the German-Russian situation and despite the fact that Austria opposes warring on Russia the Teutonic armies are now striking anew at Russia.

The German leaders, according to thought here, hope to gain desired territory from Russia and shut her off from the Balkans and then try to still the murmurs at home by presenting this new victory. The utter disorganization of the Russian army can give the Germans little immediate resistance, military men say. While Russia's sole thought has been peace it is believed that the Teutonic course will fan the military spirit anew.

Russia still has considerable of her men under arms, but her lines of communication are poor and her supplies are low. The morale is shattered so in all Germany is going up against one of the easiest and most unique military ventures that apparently any army has ever had. The German drive will be used in American propaganda to emphasize the German annexationist policy and to emphasize the Teutonic powers defense of Ukraina.

THIRTY-FIVE SUDDENLY TAKEN ILL AT NORFOLK

Washington, Feb. 19.—Thirty-five men at the Norfolk Va. naval station became suddenly ill yesterday today. (Dvinsk is located on the after eating corn beef hash said a telephone message today from Captain Dayton in command to Secretary of Navy Daniels. The cause was not known but it was not a case of ptomaine poisoning or ground glass Dayton said. Most of the men he believed would be on duty today but he said he was checking up and would report later.

GERMANS TAKE DVINSK

Berlin via London, Feb. 19.—German resistance the war office announced today. (Dvinsk is located on the Drina river about 100 miles southeast of Riga). The Russians made an unsuccessful attempt to blow up a bridge over the Drina river, the German war office statement added.

Slips tries over.

Will H. Hays made his first move as National Chairman of the Republican Party today in a letter inviting all former Republican national chairmen to meet him at the Union League of New York next Monday night where they will confer.

The fuel administrator for the state of New York warns his constituents that "every indication points to the fact that the coal stringency will be even more acute next winter than it is at present." The gentleman from New York evidently has advance information from Washington that Mr. Garfield is to be retained for another year.

The DuBois Daily Express which has relied upon International News Services for several years yesterday took on the good old reliable United Press. It was noticeable that in their issue of yesterday the United Press dispatches were given top of column and set in black type. The people of DuBois are now assured of state world news.

The Democratic organs are making more of a fuss over the probable Republican candidates for Congress and Governor than the rank and file of Republicans themselves. Republicans, the whole country over, are silently determined to have a change in administration from top to bottom and their choice at the primaries will be their unanimous choice at the general election.

Judging from the way some people howl when they put in a grocery order and are compelled to buy substitutes for white flour, they are not aware of the fact that we are at war. They forget that we have over half a million of our finest young men "over there" who are depending upon us for flour. People who take up the grocer's time howling over this, the lightest sacrifice they can make, are indeed not true patriots and it is unfortunate the grocer is not in position to tell them what he really thinks of them.

THE BIG THING

We had a war of independence; a little democracy came into being and stood for itself. The Big Thing was in embryo.

We had a war of Liberty; our growing democracy stood for a great human and national ideal, and forces were aligned for the Big Thing to come.

We had a war of righteous interference; our great democracy stood for the co-operation of neighboring nations; and the Big Thing loomed near.

The Big Thing Has Come! We have a war to the death of right against wrong. Our mighty nation, equipped with power and influence, proudly self-conscious, unified by danger, has championed the principles of world-brotherhood, democracy and justice. America has grown her chance! She stands now not upon her own rights; not upon the rights of a class or condition of men; not upon the right of neighbors or friends—but upon the rights of the whole free world! Hers is the first national voice raised for the broadest inter-nationalism.

SHOULD TAKE UP CHURCH WORK IN THE ARMY CAMPS

The National War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A. wishes the names of all men called to the National Army who have been active in church or association. Cards are being given those who would for them at the local associations introducing them to the Y. M. C. A. secretaries at Camp Lee. Friends of boys who are anxious to have them enlist in Christian activities should notify Mr. Corbett of the local association and have cards of introduction given them.

All men called to the National Army are invited to use the privileges of the association at their convenience.

The Pennsylvania State Convention of the Y. M. C. A. convenes at Harrisburg on the 21st-23rd. This meeting will make a special feature of recruiting for work in the home base of the association, so that the ground gained by the growth of the past ten years may not be lost. Among the speakers will be Dr. W. W. White, President of Bible Teacher's Training College, N. Y., Bishop Luther B. Wilson, New York, Geo. A. Warburton, General Secretary of the Toronto Association.

RULES FOR INCUBATION

With the increased demand for baby chicks this season it will be necessary to hatch early and late, says L. S. Kleinschmidt of the Pennsylvania State College. Many new incubators will be put in operation and many old ones brought out and cleaned up.

Clean the incubator and disinfect thoroughly before starting each hatch. Run the incubator twenty-four hours so as to be sure that it is properly regulated.

Place the egg on its side, not on end.

Run the thermometer at 102 degrees F. at the top of the eggs but do not allow the bulb to touch the eggs. Run the swinging thermometers at 103 degrees F.

Turn the eggs twice a day from the third to eighteenth day.

Remove all clear and dead eggs after the seventh day and again on the fourteenth day.

Do not hold eggs longer than two weeks before incubating them.

Air the eggs five minutes during the second week and ten minutes during the third week, but do not chill them. Test by touching the large end of the egg to the egg if it feels cool the eggs are ready to be returned to the incubator.

Test the temperature of a nursery tray. If it is below ninety-five degrees F. do not let the chicks into it. Young chicks should have an early temperature of about ninety-eight degrees F.

Harden the chicks off in the incubator by gradually increasing the air allowed to enter through the door.

More than 100,000 women and girls are now employed by the Prussian State railways, as compared with fewer than 10,000 before the commencement of the war.

MUSTEROLE—QUICK RELIEF! NO BLISTER!

It Soothes and Relieves Like a Mustard Plaster Without the Burn or Sting

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with the oil of mustard. It does all the work of the old-fashioned mustard plaster—does it better and does not blister. You do not have to bother with a cloth. You simply rub it on—and usually the pain is gone!

Many doctors and nurses use Musterole and recommend it to their patients. They will gladly tell you what relief it gives from sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite, colds of the chest, etc. often prevents pneumonia.

THE ALCOHOL AGE.

"What is the matter with the world?" asked Dr. Charles Gilbert Davis, noted surgeon of Chicago, in a thought-arresting article in the Illinois Issue. His answer is, "A thousand years of alcoholic saturation."

"All life should evolve," he says; "alcohol produces evolution. Take the largest and finest breed of dogs—the Great Dane, for example—and for three or four generations feed them daily a little alcohol and what is the result? What was previously a large, noble animal will deteriorate into a snarling, snarling, fighting, almost hairless, insignificant little cur. And yet we feed men on this lethal poison for thousands of years and then wonder why we have disease, pestilence, insanity and war."

"In this dawn of the twentieth century it may be truthfully affirmed that the aggressive war brain is the brain that directly, or indirectly through heredity, has been poisoned by alcohol. The alcoholic brain cannot evolve those emotions of the human soul that make for peace. We may talk peace, legislate for peace, and make peace treaties, but wars will never cease till the brain is freed from the corroding effects of alcohol."

"One thousand years from now the historian will record the events of today and classify them under the general heading, 'The Age of Alcohol.' It will be pathetic but interesting literature."

BREAD OR BEER.

Sir Alfred Booth, chairman of the Cunard steamship line, was, when the war began, neither a prohibitionist nor a total abstainer. Early in 1916 he started Great Britain by declaring that "the transport problem demands prohibition until the war is over." "I am not thinking of the temperance side of the question," he said, "we have got beyond that now. I am thinking of the demand which the trade makes upon the services of our ships, our railways and cars, and our labor." He denounced the use by the breweries and distilleries of thousands of tons of coal mined and sent to them every week, the barley and other produce carted and hauled by rail to the brewery, brought back again and distributed to the consumer. "If we are to maintain our armies in the field, we shall before very long have to choose between bread or beer."

MOTHERING THE SOLDIERS.

The W. C. T. U. has opened many recreation rooms for the soldiers. The homelike men who flock to them do not fail to express their gratitude for the cheery welcome and the homely atmosphere they find in these places. To the matron at the rooms in Washington, D. C., a poem was presented by young Robert E. Lee, grandson of the great Southern general, as an expression of his feelings. The last stanza runs thus:

When side by side we take our chance,
To live or die in bloody France,
For right and you;
Then never fear, you here at home
That we'll forget, wherever we roam
The W. C. T. U.

THE WORKINGMAN'S BURDEN.

Every workingman carries on his back a nonproducer. The laborer who pays his bills is charged a higher price to cover the loss the storekeeper sustains by failure of the drinking man to pay what he owes. When crime is committed or a family impoverished by the drink-debauchery of its natural support, the cost appears on the tax bill of the man who labors.

Jobs are made by the consumption of products, and if money is not spent for booze, it will be spent for other things which must be produced by labor.—From the Cyclopaedia of Temperance.

ALCOHOL INCREASES FATIGUE.

Fatigue is due to the action upon nerve endings and nerve cells of poisonous products formed within the body as the result of muscular metabolism. For a fatigued person to add to his blood, unless in minute doses, another poison in the form of alcohol, is only to make matters worse rather than better. What are required are longer periods of rest.—Sir Thomas Oliver, M. D., LL. D., in "The Drink Problem of Today."

BUYS NEW CLOTHES.

In Denver soon after prohibition went into effect a woman exhibited with great pride the first dress her husband had ever purchased for her, although they had been married long enough to have a child in the eighth grade. She added that he had a new suit, too.

TO SYMBOLIZE A CLEAN LIFE.

Four thousand men in the First Reserve Officers Training camp at Fort Sheridan, Ill., signed this pledge:

"1. We undertake to maintain our part of the war free from hatred, wanton brutality or graft, true to the American purpose and ideals.

"2. Aware of the temptations incident to camp life and the moral and social wrongs involved, we covenant together to live the clean life and to seek to uplift the American soldier as a citizen and guarantee of our nation's future."

Miss Evelyn Smith returned to Indiana Normal school today after spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Carr.

LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS

LETTER FROM MILTON THOMAS

Somewhere in France,
Jan. 18, 1918.

Dear Mother And All:

Just a line to let you know that I received your letter of December 18 and was glad to hear from you. It found me well and enjoying fine health. Our winter is almost over. The snow is almost all gone. It has rained for the last week.

Well mother I have not received the sweater yet but don't worry. You will have to give it time as we have awful slow transportation. It takes the mail a month or more but I will write just as soon as I get it.

Well I have it pretty nice. One of my friends and I have a private room. We have a nice feather bed so you see it is almost like home. We are getting all the tobacco we need. I have a pretty good stock.

Well as I can't think of any more to tell you I will close for this time.

Your loving son,

MILTON.

Somewhere in France,

Jan. 18, 1918.

Dear Parents:

I received your kind and welcome letter and was glad to hear of your good health. Thank God I am the same. I also received a photo of Joe and I think he looks fine. If you see him tell him to write me a letter. Of course I don't expect to meet him over here in France unless it's accidentally.

Well it was pretty cold here the last month but the weather here is very changeable. We haven't very many winter months left so we are hoping for good weather before long.

I signed up for a $10,000 policy and I pay 38 francs a month, which is about $6.00 in American money. In case of death it entitles you to $52.50 a month and if I am disabled it pays the same in 240 payments, so I think it's pretty good to carry a policy. In case anything happens I am not obligated to anyone.

Well I am a little tired just now or I would write more. Hoping to receive an answer by return mail, as I am very happy when I receive a letter from home, I remain

Your son and brother,
SAM HARRIS,
1st Am. Div.,
Trench Motor Co., E. E. F.

"BETTER EVERY WAY," HE SAYS

Smelter in Mint Was Too Busy Making Silver Dollars to Guard Health

"I guess I was too busy making silver dollars for Uncle Sam to watch my health," said H. B. Thomas, of 2244 Nicholas street, Philadelphia, a smelter in the United States mint recently.

"I have been an athlete for a good many years, playing football, basketball and basketball," he continued, "and I thought I was as immune as a fellow could get from a breakdown."

"I didn't think much about my health. As a result, I became nervous and all run-down."

"I grew tired at the least exertion and I realized I had lost some of my strength and buoyancy. I lacked ambition, and kind of pulled myself thru the day."

"I knew I needed a good tonic and builder, so when a friend told me about the way this Taniae helped him, I decided to try it myself. I began using Taniae and am now taking it."

"I feel better in every way. I sleep well and feel rested and ready for work in the morning. I eat well and my food seems to thoroughly agree with me. That tired kind of a feeling has disappeared, and I feel as good as new."

Taniae, the Master Medicine, is now sold here by Woodward & M'Pherson.

PILLOW ROLL IS NEW IDEA

Covering Need Cost Very Little, as Most Material Can Be Found in Family Piece Bag.

Some call them slumber rolls, but no matter what their name, they are about the most modern word in the pillow world.

The pillow roll is particularly interesting because the covering need cost very little. Cover the ends with either velvet or silk; this may be the most expensive part of the covering, but as two straight pieces the length of the circumference of the pillow are required, it is almost a foregone conclusion that enough suitable material will be found in the family piece bag, says a writer in an exchange.

From the center of the uncovered pillow end measure back the width of the end covering. Sew the black edge fast to the pillow, after having stitched up the seam to fit. Gather the other edge into the pillow end's center and hide by a bit of gimp and a tassel.

The middle of the roll is covered by a coarse cream-colored linen; the center is ornamented by stenciled circles, done with dye to match the colored ends; in each circle yellow and white daisies are embroidered, using the petal stitch; stamping is not necessary.

A cross stitch or filled-in border in a conventional pattern is run midway between this and the edge. Seam up the linen to fit the circumference, slip it on and tack it in place. Finish the edge which joins the end covers with gimp, and a very attractive pillow is the result.

To make the roll itself, turn over and over an oblong toss pillow, sewing it firmly in shape.

MANY NOVELTIES FROM CHINA

Bits of Embroidery and Brocade Silk Imported from the Orient Enliven American Costumes.

We are much indebted, just at present, to the Chinese for inspiration in our interior decorating. We have many times acknowledged that fact.

But now we are also indebted to the Chinese for many charming things about our clothes, says a fashion writer. This is partly because the French designers have looked to that part of the Orient for inspiration. It is partly, too, because it seems to be easier now to make imports from China and Japan than from Europe. Hence our shops are filled with lovely bits of Chinese embroidery and brocade silk—and we must, perforce, make them wearable.

One novelty is the stock collar of rich Chinese embroidery, with a full jabot below it in front of lace or fine muslin, lace trimmed. These jabots are often made to give a sort of one-sided effect—that is, they are much fuller on one side than on the other. There are often little cuffs, quite snug, fastening with snappers, to wear with these collars.

Another novelty is made of Chinese silk, embroidered with metallic threads. This consists of three-piece sets, consisting of neck scarf, handbag and cap, all lined with brilliant color, with worsted fringe on the scarfs.

THE FALLING CROWN.

The "falling" crown as shown in this smart velvet turban is especially interesting. The narrow cordings afford the only break and a ball button of skunk fur forms the only trimming.

SEPARATE SKIRT STILL WIDE

Plaited Model is Perennial Favorite, Regardless of the Season or the Fabric Employed.

Style designers may wrinkle their brows to decide whether narrow or wide skirts as a part of suits and one-piece dresses shall hold sway; but separate skirt designers go happily along defying rules that apply to other types of outer apparel, and make plaited skirts that are comfortably wide, regardless of season or of fabric employed. True, plain skirts, bustle skirts, spiral and tunic skirts are shown; but the plaited model is a perennial favorite, while all other skirt types enjoy a fluctuating popularity.

Yokes are being developed on many small skirts of the season, and where either a plaid or a striped fabric is used this is an admirable plan. The fabric may be cut lengthwise for the skirt proper and crosswise for the yoke if to a striped weave; or if plaid material is employed the yoke may be cut on the bias and a very smart skirt sans other trimming be the finished result.

HEALTH THAT MAKES WEALTH

Nervous Energy Which Enables One to Think New Thoughts and Initiate New Plans Important.

Probably the majority of men do not know what real health means. It means more than the capacity to sit up and eat, to walk, to board a car and to bend over a desk. Real health means more than the real ability to do the same thing day after day. Real health means a degree of stirring, nervous energy that enables one to think new thoughts, conceive new plans and initiate new enterprises. Superabundant nervous energy is back of exceptional mental activity. It is the basis of all those qualities which are most essential in the struggle for success.

It is not sufficient to have health that will enable you to do a commonplace day's work. Hugo Masters writes in Physical Culture. The right kind of health should give you the energy with which to perform far more than a day's work. If necessary, even from a quantitative standpoint. It is commonly the man with an unlimited capacity for work who gets on. He is able to work long hours without tiring. Successful men invariably enjoy the possession of this degree of nervous endurance or working endurance. But it is not this that is most important. The possession of energy is essential, not so much for the sake of the capacity for long hours of work, but on account of the quality of work which it enables one to perform. Quality of effort is more important than quantity of work and the greatest value of unlimited energy lies in giving one the capacity for concentration, the capacity for an intensity of effort that is beyond the average man.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MOUNTAIN GOATS.

Mr. and Mrs. White Mountain Goat were having a talk as to what they should have for dinner.

"I suggest a good deal of clover," said Mr. Goat.

"And I would like some hay," said Mrs. Goat.

"Why shouldn't we have both?" asked Mr. Goat.

"Why not, indeed?" asked Mrs. Goat, looking at her husband proudly. "No one could say that goats are stupid if they ever saw you, my dear," she said.

"Thank you, my love," said Mr. Goat. "Kind words are pleasant to hear and we have both made each other happy by them, but just now it is meal-time and I am very hungry. In fact I will be far more pleasant after I eat. I am beginning to feel a little cross now."

"As long as you admit it," said Mrs. Goat, "it is not so bad. The only creatures I cannot stand are the ones who don't admit when they feel cross. They act in such a horrid way and yet they pretend they are not disagreeable in the least."

"I am getting more cross by the moment," said Mr. Goat. "We really must hurry."

Now Mr. Goat was really feeling rather cross. He always did when he grew very hungry. To be sure he admitted it, because he thought it was the best way. He did not want Mrs. Goat to think that he would naturally be cross to her.

He felt rather ashamed that he always grew so cross when he was hungry and he tried hard to hide the way he felt, but it was very, very difficult.

So off Mr. and Mrs. White Mountain Goat went for their meal of clover and hay. They found some splendid clover and the hay was good too.

"I am feeling better now," said Mr. White Mountain Goat, as he munched the clover and smiled.

"I know you are," laughed Mrs. Goat. "I always feel so cross when I am hungry," said Mr. Goat.

"To be sure you do," said Mrs. Goat. "but oh, how extremely pleasant you are after a meal."

It was quite true for Mr. Goat began to smile and laugh and chat in the happiest manner. He told jokes and he said how wonderful the world was. He also told Mrs. Goat how much he loved her.

They went for a long walk after this meal—a very long walk, along the top of the mountain. They climbed and climbed and no matter how high the ridges were, they managed to get over them.

"How I would hate to live on the level earth," said Mr. White Mountain Goat.

"So would I," said Mrs. Goat.

"I have heard," said Mr. White Mountain Goat, rubbing his handsome beard or goatie against his shoulder, but he had forgotten to finish his sentence.

"I Am Beginning to Feel a Little Cross."

tence for he was looking far over some mountain tops at another valley with clover.

"What have you heard?" asked Mrs. Goat.

"Oh," said Mr. Goat, as he began to remember that he had been talking. "Oh, to be sure," he continued, "I have heard that some of our cousins who have gone to live where it is level and where there are no real mountains, will climb right over the little houses they are given to sleep in."

"I am not in the least surprised," said Mrs. Goat. "If I saw a little house I would climb right over it. What would a house be to me? Absolutely nothing. For I am used to the mountains, the great ridges and the peaks."

They walked and climbed many miles and after a long, long time they rested. After they had had a nap they began to feel the effects of the long climb, for both Mr. and Mrs. Goat again felt hungry.

"Mercy me," said Mr. Goat. "I am feeling cross again. That is only another word for hungry with me."

"I know your ways, dear goat," said Mrs. Goat, "and we will start off to the next valley right away."

Mr. White Mountain Goat was certainly feeling very cross, but soon they had reached the valley and they were eating again.

"Even if you are cross for a little while before meal-time," said Mrs. White Mountain Goat, "you are a love of a goat after meals. The time when you are cross and hungry never lasts very long, so I can forgive you, Mr. Goat."

Turks Sought British Aid.

A relief from the atrocities of war may be seen in the excerpt of a letter from a nephew of mine," writes Valoutine Robinson, 40 Wall street, New York, in the Herald, who is in the engineers' corps in Palestine:

"After the flies and sand of the desert the grass and trees of — were very grateful to the eye. We soon had a little brush with the Turks and some of our men were hurt; we drove them off and soon after a flag of truce came in with three Turkish officers. They wanted to borrow a doctor; theirs had been killed. Two of the officers, 'majors,' were to remain as hostages for his safe return. Devens volunteered and when he came back had with him two — regiment wounded that they had given him in gratitude. The two boys had been treated well, but were glad to be back with their own folk."

Cincinnati man tells how to shivel up corns so they lift out

Once I I I I I This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called freemason when applied to a tender skin corn move around at once and soon the corn dries up and lifts right out without pain. He says freemason is a sticky substance which dries immediately and never irritates or even irritates the surrounding tissue at very little as any drug store, is said to be sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Millions of Americans will welcome this new method of corn removal. The freemason is a new kind of corn cure.
